Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

With regard to document D1, see Box VI below. D1 will be disregarded in the comments which follow.

3. Novelty (PCT Article 33(2)) and inventive step (PCT Article 33(3))

The compounds claimed in claims 1 and 2 are novel over documents D2 and D3 and the other prior art documents covered by the provisions of PCT Rule 64.1(b). The same applies to the use and process claims (claims 3 to 8), which relate to the use of these compounds as intermediates in the preparation of duloxetine.

Claims 1 to 8 are inventive because the processes known from the closest prior art according to D2 and D3 involve different synthesis routes. In the prior art the alcohol function is always formed first by reduction of the corresponding carbonyl precursor, before the introduction of the monomethyl amino group. The technical problem of interest, namely that of providing an alternative process for preparing duloxetine, is thus solved in a non-obvious and inventive way.

4. Industrial applicability (PCT Article 33(4))

Claims 1 to 8 in the present application are industrially applicable (PCT Article 33(4)).
